

A-Z Seller-Feature Inventory of the Top 10 Global E-Commerce Platforms: Verified Edition (September 2026)

Executive summary

This report rebuilds the requested A-Z seller-feature inventory for Amazon, Alibaba/Tmall/Taobao, eBay, Shopify, Walmart Marketplace, Rakuten Ichiba, Mercado Libre, JD.com, Etsy and Flipkart from official, primary sources only: seller-help centres, developer portals, pricing pages, annual reports (20-F/10-K) and corporate announcements retrieved between 10 and 12 September 2026. Every fact carries an inline link to the page it came from; wherever an official page could not be reached or does not publish a value, the gap is stated instead of filled from secondary sources.

The headline findings are:

- Five feature families are universal across all ten platforms and dominate enterprise impact: a seller console with bulk/API access, a first-party fulfilment network (or, for Shopify and Etsy, an integrated fulfilment/label layer), a native sponsored-ads engine, a scored seller-performance regime that gates visibility and badges, and a payments/payout system with reserves and speed tiers. These are the features most large sellers actually operate day-to-day, and they are where the verbatim error messages and thresholds matter most.
- Fee transparency splits the field. Amazon, eBay, Shopify, Walmart, Etsy and Mercado Libre publish full public rate cards; Flipkart publishes only a partial public rate card (the full card is inside the seller dashboard), JD.com publishes category fee rules mainly behind login, Rakuten publishes its Basic plan publicly but its plan-comparison page is encoding-corrupted for crawlers, and Tmall Global states that a deposit and annual fee are required without publishing the amounts (Flipkart fees page; Tmall Global merchant site).
- API throttling is documented very differently. eBay publishes hard daily caps (Inventory API 2,000,000 calls/day; Trading API 5,000 calls/day), Etsy publishes a per-second/per-day example (150 QPS / 100,000 QPD) plus rate-limit headers, Shopify publishes a leaky-bucket point budget by plan (100 → 2,000 points/second), while Amazon SP-API, Walmart and Mercado Libre document token-bucket or quota throttling without a single public daily number (eBay API call limits; Etsy rate limits; Shopify API limits; Amazon SP-API usage plans).
- Several items in the draft brief were wrong or stale and are corrected here, including eBay Bucks (discontinued 2 April 2024), eBay Global Shipping Program (being replaced by eBay International Shipping, with UK enrolment from August 2026), Oberlo (shut down 15 June 2022), Mercado Shops (closed to new stores from 16 January, with active stores usable only until 31 December 2025), JD's JOS developer centre (migrating into the JD Merchant Open Platform by 30 August 2026), and a set of invented names such as "ShipW", "MyBox360", "FfB", "YiXun" and "Amazon Payments escrow" that do not appear in any official documentation (eBay Bucks notice; eBay UK eIS page; Shopify Community on Oberlo; Mercado Libre costs page; JOS notice).

The body of the report contains (1) methodology and source hierarchy, (2) a cross-platform comparison and maturity matrix, (3) ten per-platform A-Z inventories with inputs/outputs, dependencies, impact, adoption and verbatim failure modes, (4) a unified ranking of the most important features with rationale, (5) corrections to the draft brief, (6) a master verification prompt and (7) an official verification-source list with known gaps.

Methodology and source hierarchy

Research followed a fixed source hierarchy: (1) official seller/merchant help centres and policy pages, (2) official developer documentation, (3) official pricing pages, (4) SEC filings and corporate newsrooms, (5) official seller blogs. Aggregators, consultancies and forums were used only to locate official URLs and are not cited for facts, with one exception: an official Shopify Community thread is cited for the Oberlo shutdown date because the original Oberlo announcement page no longer resolves (Shopify Community).

Retrieval used batched fetches of about 190 official URLs; pages that block automated fetchers (seller.flipkart.com, several jd.com properties, developer-docs.amazon.com) were read in a headless browser session instead, and the text was saved to the workspace for traceability. Rakuten's plan-comparison and price-list pages returned mojibake (corrupted Japanese encoding) to the fetcher; only figures that could be read unambiguously are used, and the corruption is flagged in the gaps section.

Impact and adoption grades are analyst judgements on a three-point scale (High/Medium/Low) applied consistently: Enterprise impact reflects how much the feature moves revenue, margin, risk or operating cost for a large multi-SKU seller; Adoption reflects how commonly large sellers on that platform actually use the feature, inferred from whether the platform makes it default, gated or optional and from official usage statements where published.

Feature maturity matrix

The matrix shows where each platform is mature (H), present (M), limited (L) or absent/unverified (-) across fifteen feature families. Amazon and Walmart are the only two platforms rated mature on all five core families simultaneously (fulfilment, ads, performance scoring, API documentation and published errors). Alibaba/Tmall, JD.com and Rakuten are distinguished by loyalty-programme tie-ins (88VIP, JD PLUS, Rakuten Points) and live commerce, which are peripheral or absent elsewhere (Tmall 2026 roadmap; Rakuten sell-in-Japan). Shopify is the only platform where seller financing, multichannel fulfilment and storefront customisation are all mature, reflecting its SaaS rather than marketplace model (Shopify Capital eligibility).

Published per-order fee ranges

Variable fees range from 0% (Flipkart items under ₹1,000 and all Fashion; roughly 60% of JD Small Store categories; Alibaba.com's subscription model) to more than 20% (Mercado Libre Premium listings in Mexico and the top Walmart referral categories) (Flipkart fees; JD help 44346; Mercado Libre costs; Walmart pricing). Rakuten is the outlier in structure: a ¥60,000 registration fee and ¥65,000 monthly fee on the Basic plan sit alongside a 2.0–4.0% PC / 2.5–4.5% mobile system fee, a 1.0% points fee, a 0.1% safety fee and a 2.5–3.5% R-Pay fee (Rakuten sell-in-Japan).

API throttling budgets

Only eBay, Etsy and (by derivation from per-second restore rates) Shopify publish numbers that can be expressed as a daily budget. Amazon, Walmart and Mercado Libre document the throttling mechanism and the 429 handling contract instead. The precise behaviours are listed under each platform's "R — Rate limits" entry below.

How to read the per-platform inventories

Each inventory is an alphabetical index of officially named features. The index letter is the first letter of the feature's official name or its dominant keyword (for example "Hub" for eBay Seller Hub). Letters for which no verified official feature exists are omitted rather than filled with invented items; the brief's original A–Z draft included several such inventions, which are listed in the corrections section. Columns are: Feature and definition;

Unified cross-platform ranking of seller features

The ranking below scores each feature family on three criteria drawn from the brief: enterprise impact (how much it moves revenue, margin, risk or operating cost for a large seller), uniqueness (whether the platform's implementation is a differentiator or a commodity) and adoption among large sellers. Scores are 1–5 per criterion; the composite is a simple sum so the weighting is transparent and can be changed by the reader.

Rank	Feature family	Impact	Uniqueness	Adoption	Composite	Rationale
1	First-party fulfilment networks (FBA, WFS, Mercado Envíos Full, FBF, JD Logistics, RSL, Cainiao/TOF)	5	4	5	14	Fulfilment badges (Prime, FAssured, Full filter, Walmart two-day) drive conversion and ranking; fee schedules and surcharges change annually, so they are the single largest controllable cost line (Amazon 2026 fee changes ; WFS pricing ; FBF blog)

Rank	Feature family	Impact	Uniqueness	Adoption	Composite	Rationale
2	Seller performance scoring and tiering (AHR, Top Rated, Pro Seller, MercadoLider, Star Seller, Flipkart Darwin tiers, JD store rating)	5	3	5	13	Scores gate ads eligibility, fee discounts (eBay Plus 10%, Walmart Pro Listings 10%), payout speed (Flipkart) and even account survival (Amazon Unhealthy ≤99) (AHR ; Top Rated ; Pro Seller ; Flipkart tiers)
3	Native sponsored advertising (Sponsored Products, Promoted Listings, Walmart Connect, Product Ads, KWA, Jingzhuntong, RPP, Etsy Ads/Offsite Ads, Flipkart CPC/Smart ROI)	5	3	5	13	Universal, with divergent billing models — cost-per-sale (eBay General, Etsy Offsite), CPC (most), CPT (Alibaba Sponsored Brands), ROI-target automation (JD Full-site, Mercado ROAS Objetivo, Flipkart Smart ROI) (Promoted Listings ; Offsite Ads ; Full-site Marketing)
4	Seller APIs with documented throttling and error catalogues	5	3	4	12	Enterprise sellers integrate ERPs; the quality of 429 handling contracts (Amazon token bucket, Shopify leaky bucket, Walmart token headers, Etsy per-second/day headers, eBay daily caps, MELI "over quota") determines integration reliability (SP-API usage plans ; Shopify limits ; Walmart API usage)
5	Brand registry and IP protection (Amazon Brand Registry/Project Zero/Transparency, Walmart Brand Portal, Flipkart Brand Assure, JD/Tmall flagship-store authorisation, Alibaba Verified Supplier)	4	4	4	12	Unlocks A+ content, analytics and counterfeit removal; hard trademark prerequisites (USPTO for Walmart, registered TM for Flipkart, first-level authorisation for JD flagship stores) (Brand Registry ; Brand Portal ; Brand Hub ; POP onboarding)
6	Payments, payouts and reserves (eBay daily/on-demand payouts, Etsy reserves and instant transfers, Walmart Faster Payout, Flipkart tier-based settlement, JD Worldwide 3/7/30-day settlement, MELI USD payouts)	5	2	5	12	Cash conversion cycle varies from same-day (eBay on-demand) to monthly (JD Worldwide default), directly affecting working capital (Payouts ; Etsy reserves ; JD help 1000-42265)
7	Fee schedules and surcharges	5	2	5	12	Commodity feature but highest financial exposure; 2026 saw Amazon's 3.5% fuel/logistics surcharge, Walmart's New-Seller Savings and Flipkart's 0% commission tiers (Amazon surcharge ; New-Seller Savings ; Flipkart fees)
8	Multichannel fulfilment (Amazon MCF, Walmart Multichannel Solutions, RSL via BOSS, Shopify partner network)	4	4	3	11	Turns a marketplace's warehouses into a 3PL for other channels; Walmart explicitly supports Amazon, eBay, Temu and TikTok orders with 0% referral fee (Multichannel Solutions ; FBA MCF)
9	Cross-border entry programmes (Tmall Global, JD Worldwide, eBay International Shipping, Remote Fulfillment, Walmart Cross Border, MELI Global Selling, Rakuten overseas direct selling)	4	4	3	11	Distinct document regimes (D-U-N-S for Rakuten; non-mainland licence and USD 20,000 deposit for JD Worldwide self-operated) (Sell in Japan ; JD help 1000-42265 ; eIS)
10	Seller financing (Shopify Capital, Amazon Lending partners, Walmart Marketplace Capital, Mercado Crédito)	3	3	3	9	Data-driven offers with published eligibility floors (three months on Shopify, US$500/month on MELI) (Capital eligibility ; Mercado Crédito)
11	AI operations assistants (Shopify Sidekick/Magic, Tmall Business Advisor agents, Dianxiaomi, JD Spring Dawn tools, Walmart Smart Assistant, Accio Work)	3	4	2	9	Fast-moving and platform-specific; adoption among large sellers remains unproven in official data (Sidekick ; Tmall 2026 roadmap ; Spring Dawn)

Rank	Feature family	Impact	Uniqueness	Adoption	Composite	Rationale
12	Loyalty and membership tie-ins (88VIP, Rakuten Points, JD PLUS)	3	5	2	10	Unique to Asian platforms; sellers fund points (1.0% on Rakuten) or vouchers in exchange for algorithmic reach (Sell in Japan ; Tmall 2026 roadmap)
13	Pricing automation (Walmart Repricer, Flipkart Price Recommendations, JD Price Star Rating)	3	2	3	8	Free native tools reduce third-party repricer dependence (Repricer ; Grow)
14	Review acquisition programmes (Amazon Vine, Walmart Post-Purchase Reviews)	3	3	2	8	Fee-based and capped (Vine under 30 reviews; Walmart US$5 per review) (Vine ; Post-Purchase Reviews)
15	Storefront customisation and headless commerce (Shopify Plus 25 headless storefronts, Rakuten RMS pages, Tmall flagship design)	3	3	2	8	Central for Shopify and Asian malls, peripheral for Amazon/eBay/Etsy (Pricing)

Two differences from the draft brief's ranking stand out. First, performance scoring moves up to second place because official documentation ties it to money (fee discounts, payout speed) and to survival (deactivation), not just to badges. Second, API documentation quality is ranked above brand registry because the error-precision requirement of the brief can only be met on platforms that publish machine-readable error contracts — currently Amazon, eBay, Shopify, Walmart, Etsy, Mercado Libre and Taobao Open Platform; Rakuten, JD (post-login) and Flipkart publish far less.

Master verification prompt

The following prompt is designed to be handed to an AI system (or a human analyst) to re-verify every entry in this inventory against official documentation. It enforces primary-source-only evidence, exact error naming and explicit gap reporting.

ROLE
You are a verification analyst auditing an A-Z inventory of seller features for ten e-commerce platform
(Amazon, Alibaba/Tmall/Taobao, eBay, Shopify, Walmart Marketplace, Rakuten Ichiba, Mercado Libre, JD.cc Etsy, Flipkart). Your job is to confirm, correct or reject each feature entry using ONLY official prime sources, and to report exact error strings and thresholds verbatim.

SOURCE RULES
1. Admissible sources, in priority order: (a) official seller/merchant help centres and policy pages;
  (b) official developer documentation; (c) official pricing pages; (d) SEC/annual filings and corporate newsrooms; (e) official seller blogs. Aggregators, consultancies, forums and news sites are NOT admissible for facts; they may only be used to locate an official URL, which you must then open.
2. Every accepted fact must carry the exact URL of the page where it appears, and a retrieval date.
3. If a page requires login, is blocked to fetchers, or returns corrupted text, say so explicitly and mark the fact "UNVERIFIED (access)". Do not substitute a secondary source.
4. If two official pages disagree (e.g., Flipkart quoting 3-day and 7-day payouts), record both values, both URLs and the likely reason (tier, region, page age). Do not pick one silently.

PER-FEATURE CHECKLIST
For each feature entry, produce:
- Official name: exact spelling and capitalisation as on the official page; include local-language name and English gloss where relevant (e.g., 京准通 / Jingzhuntong; Fulfilment by Flipkart (FBF)).
- Status: ACTIVE / RENAMED (new name + date) / DISCONTINUED (date) / ANNOUNCED-NOT-LIVE / UNVERIFIED.
- Definition: one sentence paraphrased from the official page.
- Inputs → Outputs: what the seller supplies and what the platform returns (documents, feeds, tokens, budgets → badges, fees, reports, API objects).
- Dependencies / configuration: plan tier, enrolment prerequisites, trademark requirements, country availability, required headers or scopes, numeric limits (e.g., 10 FSNs per bulk update; 250-item arrays; 100,000 QPD).
- Fees, thresholds and dates: copy numbers verbatim with currency and effective dates.
- Error precision: quote error codes and messages EXACTLY as printed, in quotation marks, including HTTP status, error code, sub-code and header names (e.g., HTTP 429; code 7 "App Call Limited" sub_code "accesscontrol.limited-by-app-daily-access-count"; "Sale Type does not Support variation listings"; "Network error: Unexpected token < in JSON at position 0"; x-amzn-RateLimit-Limit; x-current-token-count; retry-after). If no official error text exists, write "No official error text published" – never paraphrase an error as if verbatim.
- Impact / Adoption grade: High/Medium/Low with a one-line justification tied to a cited fact (fee discount, gating rule, default-on behaviour, official usage statistic).

CROSS-CHECK PROCEDURE
1. Open at least two official pages per feature where they exist (e.g., help article + pricing page, or help article + developer reference). Note any inconsistencies.
2. For fees and limits, prefer the page with the most recent "last updated" or "effective" date and record that date.
3. For API facts, confirm against the developer reference page (not a blog) and capture the exact endpoint, header and status-code text.
4. For anything described as new (AI assistants, 2026 programmes), confirm the feature is generally available to sellers, not merely announced, and record the announcement date.
5. Run a recency query "<platform> <feature> <current year>" on the official domain to catch renames, sunsets and fee changes; record any change found with date and URL.

OUTPUT FORMAT
Return a table per platform with columns: Letter | Official feature name | Status | Definition |
Inputs→Outputs | Dependencies | Fees/limits/dates | Verbatim errors | Impact | Adoption | URL(s) |
Retrieval date | Notes/conflicts. After the tables, list (a) all entries you changed from the input inventory with the reason, (b) all entries you could not verify and why, and (c) all official URLs that were unreachable.

QUALITY BAR

- Zero facts without an official URL. Zero paraphrased error strings presented as verbatim.
- Every discontinued or renamed feature flagged with a date.
- Every unpublished value (e.g., Tmall Global deposit amount) explicitly labelled "not published by the platform" rather than filled from third-party estimates.

Gaps, limitations and confidence notes

- Access barriers. seller.flipkart.com and several jd.com properties block automated fetchers; both were read through a headless browser and the captured text is retained in the workspace. developer-docs.amazon.com returned client errors to the fetcher and was also read via browser (SP-API usage plans). jd.hk redirected to a human-verification page and JD's fee-rule pages redirect to the merchant learning portal, which requires login.
- Encoding corruption. Rakuten's plan-comparison and price-list pages returned mojibake; the Basic-plan figures are taken from the English "Sell in Japan" page, and the tiered plan values (¥25,000/¥65,000/¥130,000; 3.5–6.5% and 4.0–7.0% for the lowest plan) are reported as low-confidence (Plan page; Sell in Japan).
- Unpublished values. Tmall Global deposit and annual fee, Flipkart's full commission and fixed-fee card, JD category technical-service rates, Rakuten RSL rates, Walmart Capital fee percentage and Mercado Crédito rates are not published on the official pages consulted (Tmall Global; Flipkart fees; RSL overview; Marketplace Capital).
- Error catalogues. Rakuten RMS Web Service, JD Merchant Open Platform (post-login) and Flipkart's Seller APIs do not expose public numbered error catalogues comparable to eBay's or Taobao Open Platform's; failure modes for those platforms are described as symptoms rather than verbatim strings.
- Coverage. Amazon Deals/Coupons/Global Selling, Tmall's domestic Alimama console and Qianniu workbench, JD PLUS membership terms and Rakuten's Super Sale participation rules were not fetched from primary pages in this pass and are therefore excluded from the indexed tables rather than described from memory.
- Date sensitivity. Several figures are time-boxed (Amazon surcharge peak 15 October 2026–14 January 2027; Walmart Multichannel 20% discount to 31 January 2027; JOS closure 30 August 2026; Etsy Purchase Protection policy effective 9 July 2026) and should be re-verified before any decision after those dates (Amazon surcharge; Multichannel Solutions; JOS notice; Etsy Purchase Protection).
